LEGION PUTTING ON INTENSE DRIVE FOR MEMBERS THIS WEEK

The members of the local Legion post are starting a week's membership drive by which they hope to get every world war veteran of this community who is the holder of an honorable discharge. In order that the public may see the results of the drive a large thermometer will be on display in one of the show windows of a store on Market or Second street. The thermometer will show the membership of the post for the past years and the daily membership during the drive.

The Clearfield post last year stood ninth in the whole state, ranking with Johnstown, Wilkesbarre, Altoona, and the other larger cities, and are this year out to beat that record. On March 8, 1924 they maintained their last year's rank with a membership of 325, being 34 below Altoona, who holds eighth place.

Inasmuch as the post's activities for this year are of unusual interest to the ex-service men of the community, every ex-service man should join. The members of the John Lewis Shade post have unselfishly devoted their efforts for the benefit of the disabled and betterment of the community. The reputation established thru their activities has become state-wide and their program for the year affords the ex-service man an excellent opportunity to do something for the community.

It is the intention of the local post to establish a permanent record of the ex-service men of this community and this alone should be sufficient inducement for every world war veteran to affiliate with the Legion. The local post will be incorporated and the charter, when granted, will include an alphabetical list of the members of the post in good standing. The charter will be recorded in the recorder's office, where it can always be found—a condensed and permanent record of the world war veterans of this community.

Aged Jefferson County Woman Commits Suicide By Hanging In Her Home

Punxsutawney, Pa., Mar. 14. (INS.)—Mrs. Harmon Peffer, 72, one of the most highly respected residents of Marchard, was found hanging in the attic of her home today by her husband. Mrs. Peffer had been in ill health for two years, and sometimes became demented during these attacks.

It is believed that she was suffering from one of these spells when she committed suicide today.

Mrs. John Dufton, who is a medical patient at the hospital, is much improved.

WANTED BOY FOR A WEEK TO REPLACE ONE SHE LOST

Gave the Name of Mrs. Ralph Hall of Big Run; Can't be Found There; Nobody Knows Her.

TRACED TO DUBOIS

A state-wide search was instituted today for Billie, the little three and a half year old son of Mrs. Florence Parker, an employe of the Children's Home here, who loaned her little boy to a woman who visited the home recently and who claimed she was the mother of a little boy who had died recently, leaving her lonely and distraught.

The woman about 28 years of age, well dressed and having bobbed hair, arrived in Clearfield on Wednesday, March 5th, and immediately went to the office of the County Commissioners, where she asked Commissioner Weimer if the county had under its charge a boy which she could adopt. Commissioner Weimer informed her that the county had no such child at the present time but when she indicated that she wanted to be advised when it did, he very thoughtfully asked the woman for references. She gave her name as Mrs. Ralph Hall, of Big Run, Pa., and the following men as references: E. R. Henry, D. R. Moore, George Welder, Adam Welder and Hotelman Conrad, all of Big Run, Pa.

The lady then asked if she might go to the Children's Home to look over the children there and Commissioner Weimer told her that he could have no objection provided the home authorities did not. She went to the home early in the afternoon and spent the balance of the afternoon there chatting with those who work there and taking a great interest in the children, particularly little Billie who was just about the age of the boy she said she lost. Being of pleasant manner and address, no suspicions were aroused and on her announcement that she intended to take the afternoon jitney leaving here at 5:40 o'clock for DuBois, she was permitted to stay for supper. Sometime during the afternoon she asked Mrs. Parker if she might not take Billy home with her for a week. At first, quite naturally, Mrs. Parker demurred but the pleading seemed to be so in earnest that Mrs. Parker gave her consent and Billie was made ready for the visit, which certainly could not be begrudged to any youngster penned up in the Home with no outside contacts as those unfortunate children are.

Billie was arrayed in a tan overcoat, U. S. Navy cap and brown shoes and given a package containing clothing changes as well as a brown cap and blue sweater and together they happily started on their journey to the DuBois jitney.

That was the last seen or heard of the woman and Billie and while no fears are entertained for the little boy's safety and welfare, the sudden disappearance which has been known for a couple of days is growing very perplexing.

Hearing no word of the safe arrival of the couple at Big Run, Mrs. Parker became worried and communicated her anxiety to close associates and relatives. Her brother, Dean Read, took charge of the matter a couple days ago and assisted by the county authorities and the state policemen has instituted a fine tooth comb search using the press, the radio and every means to find the boy and his alleged abductor.

Wife Of Ramey Priest, Who Slew Chicago Priest Declared Insane by Court

Chicago, March 14.—Mrs. Emily Strutzinsky, wife of Rev. Nicholas Strutzinsky, pastor of the Lithuanian Greek Catholic Church in Ramey, Clearfield county, who on Oct. 7, last, shot to death Rev. Basil Stetsuk, rector of the St. Michael's Ukrainian church here, was on Tuesday of this week adjudged insane by a jury in Judge Harry A. Lewis' court. The woman has been committed to the state asylum at Kankakee.

The murder was committed on a Sunday morning as the woman kneeled before the altar ostensibly to make a confession at the 9 o'clock mass. Following the shooting Mrs. Strutzinsky claimed that she was justified in her act, charging that the dead man was a "hypocrite" and was "betraying her people." Mrs. Strutzinsky is 44 years of age while the slain priest was 36 at the time of his death.

Dr. N. Douglas Singer and Dr. W. O. Krohn testified that the woman was insane at the time of the shooting.

Emil Gdozbjak, a Sunday school teacher at St. Michael's church, was the first witness. He said that on the morning of the shooting Mrs. Strutzinsky had come into the church, apparently in trouble.

"Mr. Gdozbjak," she said, "I am looking for Father Stetsuk. It is important for the welfare of the congregation and our suffering people elsewhere that I see him at once."

Mr. Gdozbjak showed her where Father Stetsuk was and then went up into the choir loft.

"A minute later," he testified. "I heard an explosion. I ran downstairs and found Father Stetsuk dying on the altar. I took a pistol away from the woman and called the police."

Harrisburg, Pa., March 15. (INS.)—The State Highway Department yesterday rejected all bids for eight new road projects in as many counties and at the same time awarded six contracts in five other counties.

WATER COMPANY MOVES TO INCREASE THE WATER SUPPLY OF CLEARFIELD TO A MILLION EXTRA GALLONS PER DAY

WORK PROGRESSES

The Clearfield Water Company does not propose to be caught without a sufficient supply of water for their patrons during the coming "dry season" of 1924, nor for any other season for that matter, if the application of careful business judgment and the advice and assistance of expert engineers will work out the problem confronting the water company in this rapidly growing community.

We long have had an abundance of purest mountain water for at least ten months in the year, with ample supply to carry through the annually recurring drouth period in the fall, provided of course, care against waste was used in the main or level part of the town with an occasional shut off of the New York Central engine supply, of the large consumers.

It was demonstrated last year that it was necessary, in order that an adequate and ample supply of water might be available at all times, drouth period or no, that some measures must be taken to control and enlarge the supply. With that end in view the best engineering experts in Western Pennsylvania, already familiar with the Clearfield situation, were called in and set to work devising the most feasible plan for adding to Clearfield's water supply, while at the same time keeping the outlay for improved or enlarged plant at the lowest possible notch in order that no, or in any case, very little increase in the price to the consumer would have to be made.

These engineers went upon the ground with the water company, canvassed the situation from its every angle and offer a plan, accepted by the board of directors of the company, which in effect requires the metering of the water by installation of 500 meters at once and the ultimate placing of all consumers on meters. This move is recommended, not as a revenue producer as might be expected, but simply for the purpose of accurately gauging the needed supply

BOOM BASEBALL NOW IF YOU WOULD HAVE FIRST RATE TEAM

Public Meeting Called for Arbitration Room of Court House Mon. Evening at 7:30.

CONSIDER LEAGUE

The time is rapidly approaching in this community, as in every other section all over this broad land when baseball rolls out of the last storm of winter or early spring and assumes the center of the stage.

As a result of the annual baseball urge 100 per cent fans in Clearfield Philipsburg, Osceola and Tyrone are already figuring on organizing a league to embrace the towns mentioned

The idea is to create a four-town league of all Simon-pure home town players, with the iron clad proviso that no pro or semipro players will get a lookin.

In order that the movement may get properly under way town meetings are being arranged in the four towns for the purpose of selecting representatives to attend a joint meeting in the near future at which the league plan will be worked out.

To this end local fans, and that includes everybody interested in base ball will meet at the Arbitration Room of the Court House on Monday evening, March 17th at 7:30 o'clock, at which meeting the proposed league will be discussed and representatives chosen to attend the joint meeting mentioned.

There is no reason why such an organization should not be formed and there is no reason why such a league could not be supported, the season could start about the middle of May and continue up into September and thus assume some real pleasure and recreation during the summer.

Let everybody interested in baseball attend Monday night's meeting.

OIL CITY WON BUT OH BOY! OUR LADS HAD THEM A'GOING

Clearfield High School's premier basketball team, which clinched the sectional championship by winning from both Punxsutawney and DuBois on Tuesday and Wednesday evenings in settling the triple tie for first place in this section at the end of the league season, went down to defeat in the last quarter of a strenuous game with Oil City last evening on the Grove City College floor in the inter-sectional contests.

There were four teams entered at Grove City and it was our luck to get Oil City in the draw, this team being touted as the strongest quintet in Western Pennsylvania.

The local lads put up a great contest, but were forced to succumb in the final quarter, when over-taxed flesh and blood could not withstand the attack of their huskier and fresher opponents. The score, 31-26, tells the story of the stubborn fight put up by our own, but six games in nine days was too much of a drain on the reserve strength of the team and the boys were forced to go down to defeat, though struggling gamely and with that "never say die" spirit which has marked their work all season.

Justifiable Homicide Is the Verdict Against Man Who Killed Gland Robber

Louisville, Ky., Mar. 14. (INS.)—A coroner's jury today returned a verdict of justifiable homicide in the killing last Saturday of Richard H. Beaton, would-be gland robber, by William C. Gates, his intended victim.

Gates will go on trial in police court tomorrow morning and tell for the first time on the witness stand his story of the three days imprisonment which preceded the slaying.

Whaler-Brookhart Inquiry Looking Into Film Deals

Washington, March 15. (INS.)—From the sandy stretches of the Mexican border to the sun-baked Jersey arena where Jack Dempsey fought Georges Carpentier, the Senate committee pursued its investigation of Harry M. Daugherty today, adducing from a number of witnesses, spicy testimony relating to film "deals," the activities of border gun runners, and laxity of law enforcement by the Department of Justice.

Today's evidence lacked the lurid sensationalism of yesterday, and yet it brought out the seeming existence of a nation-wide conspiracy to exhibit the Dempsey-Carpentier fight films in violation of federal statute, and its successful were the promoters in "getting around" the law that F. C. Quinby, the principal witness, admitted making $125,000.

Quinby proved an evasive witness under a drumfire of questions by Senators as to whether the Department of Justice "was not fixed." He said "he presumed" an arrangement existed, but he knew of none of the details. All he knew was that Will Orr, former secretary to Gov. Whitman of New York; Jesse Smith, late bosom companion of the Attorney General, and Jap Mama, a newspaper correspondent, friendly with Daugherty, got a cut in on the profits for their efforts in getting around the law.

Quinby said he realized he could have been stopped at any time from exhibiting his pictures by an injunction, but the Department of Justice got out none. On cross examination by Daugherty's lawyer, he admitted he finally stopped showing under the threat of prosecution by the department.

Frank Captain B. C. Baldwin, a lanky "Texas ranger," formerly an operative in the Department of Justice, the committee secured some of the spiciest and at times most humorous testimony of the session.

Baldwin said the Department of Justice ordered its agents not to investigate law violations and that the agents also were under orders not to investigate district attorneys, or other important office holders without express permission from Washington.

Baldwin said he had been active, too, in suppressing gun runners along the border and for these activities he was transferred away from the border patrol, leaving "250 miles of border wide open."

A group of Americans, unnamed, but supposedly connected with the "oil interests" were trying to foment a revolution in Mexico, Baldwin said, hence the gun-running.

But the spiciest of the ranger's testimony related to "liquor permit" liquor "deals" engaged in by federal office holders in Texas.

Baldwin swore that some of "my boys" rangers) caught Harry Hamilton, group head of the prohibition forces in Texas, delivering a "still to some bootleggers."

"I saw Hamilton deliver three stills he confiscated from bootleggers to other bootleggers and receive money from them," Baldwin said. "I arrested him and three other men. I asked John D. Hartman, district attorney in the western half of Texas to authorize the filing of a complaint against these men.

"Hartman said it was a serious question because Hamilton was a Republican and appointed from the same source as he (Hartman) was. He said he would tell me later in the day what I should do.

"I thought I'd follow Hartman and I found that he went to the office of Dave Walker, brother-in-law of Attorney General Daugherty. I met Hartman and he said he didn't want to file a complaint himself so I filed one myself at his suggestion. This was irregular as the custom was against state officials filing complaints in the federal courts."

Baldwin said his witnesses against Hamilton were not called when the grand jury considered the case.

"I insisted my witnesses be called but they were not," said Baldwin.

"Hartman admitted to me it was a political matter with him and not one of law. He said he got his appointment from the same source that Hamilton did."

ODDS AND ENDS AND THINGS

By J. D. C.

We are getting interested in the following ourselves, so pass it along for what it's worth:

Are you too heavy?

Then omit from your diet cream soups, potatoes, gravies, milk, butter, sauces, sugar, desserts, cereals. Instead eat fresh vegetables, fruits, some meats and stock soups.

As soon as your weight approaches normal, you may again include in your diet some of the forbidden foods.

Or perhaps the scales tell you that you are too light.

Then you should eat cream soups, gravies, potatoes, cream, milk, butter, sugar, cooked cereals, in addition to fruits, vegetables and meat.

You will find it more healthful to regulate your diet than to take pills. —Hygeia.

In the first number of a new religious journal at Princeton University, The Real Issue, a leading article by Henry Norris Russell, professor of astronomy, estimates the age of the earth as about 10,000,000 years, adding that life may have existed on it more than 1,000,000,000 years.

It is the complexity, rather than the vastness of the universe, however, the writer asserts, which points conclusively to an intelligence or power which "we may well term personal."

The death of 175 miners in a Montana mine last week was the first big mine disaster for 1924. Death in the mines is no unusual thing. It is an every day matter, and the totals do not change much from year to year. Accidents accompanied by wholesale fatalities are reported on the front page, but the steady drip of human life which goes constantly with the production of our national fuel escapes notice. In 1922 there were 848,932 men employed in coal mines in the United States, of whom 1,971 were killed in accidents, to say nothing of the injured, a much higher proportion. In 1921 out of 823,253 employed, 1887 were killed. In 1920, out of 784,621, 2,271 were killed. For every million tons dug from the pits four lives are paid.

The affairs of District No. 2, U. M. W. of A., with headquarters at Clearfield, are economically administered according to the following from Friday's Altoona Mirror:

What do they pay the men who look after the interests of the 42,799 members of the United Mine Workers in district No. 2, embracing the central Pennsylvania bituminous field, and handle approximately $2,000,000 in union funds?

This would seem to be a timely question, in view of the fact that the district convention is being held in Altoona this week.

It would be only natural to suppose that John Brophy, the district president, about whom you doubtless have been reading in the report of the convention proceedings, received a sweet salary.

Directing the affairs of 42,799 miners is no easy job.

It requires brains. It requires long hours. It requires days spent away from home.

The only time the president can observe the eight hour day is when he is at home, which is not for long periods at a stretch.

Well, the report shows that he received in salary and expenses last year $3,855.35.

His salary is probably $2,500, certainly not more than $3,000, which is very modest for what he is supposed to know and do.

Vice President James Mark received more money, but his expenses were no doubt greater. Mark was paid $4,631.12.

Richard Gilbert, the secretary-treasurer, was likewise modestly paid, receiving $3,074.46 in salary and expenses.

If Brophy were the head of a private business enterprise employing 42,799 men he would probably be getting anywhere from $15,000 to $50,000 a year and expenses, and Gilbert would be drawing anywhere from $10,000 to $25,000 a year.

H. E. Carletti was paid $5,163.12; Tony Badiali, $4,912.25, and David Cowan, $4,894.70.

So did the organizers.

Mike Fazio in salary and expenses received $5,010.54; Clarence Donaldson, $4,688.05, and John Soltis, $4,309.92.

These men must travel around a great deal and consequently their expense bills are necessarily high.

Striking an average, however, the total cost to the district is reasonable.

The district paid out last year in salaries and expenses to the eight officers, eleven executive board members, eleven organizers and office force of five, or a total of 35 persons, the sum of $99,429.54.

This is an average of $2,840 each, which includes both salary and expenses, bear in mind.

District 2 seems to be operated pretty economically.

WANTED BOY FOR A WEEK

Traced to DuBois

Wednesday of this week, one week after the woman left with the boy, Mr. Read boarded the 5:40 jitney for DuBois in an effort to trace the couple. He found that they had left the jitney at the B. & S. crossing at DuBois where they entered a little store and purchased some candy for the boy. There the trail was lost. Mr. Read went on to Big Run and could find no trace of the men whose names were given as references except Adam Welder and Hotelman Conrad, but both of these men had no knowledge of such a woman.

When Mrs. Parker left the woman have the boy it was with the understanding that the woman should send her a card immediately on her arrival home. There was also an arrangement that Mrs. Parker was to go over to Big Run the following Sunday at which time she was going to take over a change of clothing. Billie wore a blue gingham suit when he left. Mrs. Parker's duties were such that she could not go on Sunday but did go on the following Tuesday but nobody she could find at Big Run could tell her anything of Mrs. Ralph Hall who claimed to live on R. D. 2 about one mile out of Big Run.

Clue at Punxy

Mr. Read on his visit to Big R this week tried every means to find the woman but he too had to return without finding the woman or any trace of her. Continuing on to Punxsutawney, Mr. Read interviewed many of the men with whom a visitor to the town might come in touch and there got a clue which it is hoped may shed some light on the mystery. A trolley conductor to whom descriptions were given said he believed he carried such a passenger with such a little boy on Tuesday or Wednesday of this week but did not remember where they got on the car or where they got off. A barber shop reported that a woman answering the description had visited his shop Tuesday or Wednesday where the boy's hair was cut. And a dentist reported having who was accompanied by a little boy. To all of these men the woman was fixed a front tooth for such a woman a stranger.

There is a connection between the visit to the dentist's office and the woman as she told Mrs. Parker that she intended to visit a dentist within a day or so to have a tooth put back into a set of false teeth. The tooth broken off was a front tooth which detracted from her appearance. She told Mrs. Parker, "You will not know me when you see me again for I am going to have this tooth fixed."

Mrs. Parker described the woman to a representative of The Progress today as being from 25 to 28 years of age, light-hair bobbed, wearing a long dark coat of a blue or gray texture with stripes running up and down. She wore a medium sized dark hat with flower trimming and had a veil when she first came to the home. Later she raised the veil up over the hat.

Little Billie is a chubby lad of three and a half years of age, weighs about 40 pounds, is about 32 inches high, has very light hair, light blue eyes and large for his age.

If any information is had by any reader of The Progress call Bell 47 or H. & C. 176 at once. If during the evening or on Sunday call H. & C. 502L.

James Purdon, a student of Dickinson College, has returned home to spend the vacation with his parents.

HELPED HER IN EVERY WAY

She Writes Mrs. Trombley of Sharon, Vt., Concerning Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound

Sharon, Vermont. — "I was weak and run-down, had a tired feeling and bearing-down pains. I saw an advertisement in the newspaper about Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound and began taking it. It has stopped these bearing-down pains and other bad feelings, and has helped me in every way. I have so much faith in the Vegetable Compound that I keep it on hand all of the time and recommend it whenever I have the opportunity."—Mrs. LEWIS TROMBLEY, Sharon, Vermont.

Glad to Help Others

"I had pains in my back and sides for many months, and my work would have to be left undone at those times. My sister told me what good Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound was doing her, so I tried it, and from the third bottle I was well and every one thought I looked better. I am glad to help others regain their health, and you may use my testimonial."—MABEL HARTMANN, 1824 Grosse Ave., Brooklyn, N.Y.

LEADCLAD

Nothing but PURE LEAD exposed to weather.

Lead cannot rust.

Why spoil your building every Four or Five years? Use LEADCLAD and save worry and expense.

LEADCLAD is made by coating a special analysis base with an extra heavy coating of pure lead by a process that positively eliminates pin holes or fractures in the coating. We have termed LEADCLAD as a 60-pound coating, which is 50 per cent heavier than the coating on ordinary 40-pound terne plate, but in reality, LEADCLAD carries a coating equivalent to about 66 pounds per box of 112 sheets. This is almost three times as much as the coating of zinc applied to Galvanized sheets. LEADCLAD will last without painting at least twice as long as Galvanized or tin plate, and when we make this statement, we are playing safe because in practically every instance, LEADCLAD has lasted four or six times longer than Galvanized material of the same gauge and under the same conditions.

Raise Healthier Children and We Have A Stronger Nation

Milk Has Its Place In This Program

One of the duties every parent owes themselves, their children and society as a whole is to raise healthy children. The facts shown by the examinations during the Great War brought out much evidence that the men who were examined had been undernourished during childhood—and some of these men were from homes where there always had been plenty, where the menus were made to please the palate rather than contain foods which would build up body and brain.

The best place to remedy these conditions is to start with the child. Give the children plenty of the sort of food which will build up their bodies and we will have a nation which will be the opposite of the old saying that we are getting weaker and wiser. We can maintain the wisdom, in fact the proper nutriments will increase the strength of mind as well as body.

When your kiddies ask for something to eat give them a lunch of bread and milk or crackers and milk, then see that their meals contain enough of the things in which milk is used in preparation, so that they get at least a quart a day.

And the milk we deliver has gone through the pasteurization process, which assures you of freedom from many disease germs.

THE REIGN OF DAVID

LESSON TEXT — II Sam. 7:18-29; 8:14, 15. (Read I Sam. 16 to II Sam. 24.)
GOLDEN TEXT—I delight to do Thy will, O my God.—Ps. 40:8.
PRIMARY TOPIC—A Shepherd Boy Becomes King.
JUNIOR TOPIC—David and Goliath.
INTERMEDIATE AND SENIOR TOPIC—David a Character Study.
YOUNG PEOPLE AND ADULT TOPIC—What David Achieved for Israel.

I. Chosen King While a Shepherd Boy (I Sam. 16:1-13).

1. Samuel Sent to Bethlehem (vv. 1-5). Samuel was directed to go to Bethlehem and from among the sons of Jesse choose a successor. God instructed him to avoid publicity by the concealment of his real purpose. Samuel was not under obligation to tell all that he knew, especially since the parties had no moral right to know.

2. Samuel Anointed David (v. 13). Though the Lord has refused to choose one of the eldest sons of Jesse, when this stripling of a boy came before Samuel, the Lord indicated His choice. This anointing typified the enduement of the Holy Spirit which is essential for any and all service for God.

II. David's Training.

1. In the Open Fields (I Sam. 16:11-13; 17:34-37). As a young man, his business was to keep his father's sheep. The prevailing tendency of such an occupation would be to take things easily, but David did not fall into a life of indolence. He became such a skilled musician that he was called to play his harp before the king. He was also an expert marksman, so that he could throw a stone with such precision as to need only one throw to down the Philistine giant. Then, too, he was physically fitted, for he had been "educated in the school of the lion and the bear."

2. In the King's Court (I Sam. 18:2, 21:24). Here was formed that tie of friendship with Jonathan which not only was a bright spot in David's life, but lives in history as a unique affair.

3. In the Cave of the Outlaw (I Sam. 21:10; 22:1). The king had given commandment to kill David. When the truth of this was realized David fled to the king of Gath, where he feigned madness. Though David did some foolish and unbecoming things during this time, he is to be commended for his self-mastery in that he would not touch the Lord's anointed.

III. David Made King of Judah (II Sam. 2:1-4).

Trusting God, David went to Hebron, where the men of Judah anointed him king over them. Thus, a part of the nation recognized him as king and ratified the work which Samuel did years before.

1. The Dual Kingdom (II Sam. 2:8; 4:12). Most of the tribes of Israel held to Ishbosheth, Saul's son, whom Abner had proclaimed king of Mahanaim. Feuds continued between the rival factions. David's power increased, while that of Ishbosheth waned. This period of civil war lasted seven and a half years.

2. David Crowned King of United Israel (II Sam. 5:1-5). Abner's death and Ishbosheth's assassination put an end to David's opposition. Besides, David's behavior during this time gradually won for him the confidence of the tribes, so that they all came to him at Hebron and anointed him as their king. They assigned as their reasons for anointing him their king:

(1) He was their brother (v. 1).
(2) He was their true leader in war, even in Saul's time (v. 2).
(3) He was the Lord's choice (v. 2).

IV. David's Worship and Prayer (II Sam. 7:18-26).

1. For God's Goodness to Him (vv. 18-22). This was shown in promising to build him a house. The content of this covenant is set forth in verses 8-16. It contains the following elements:

(1) A house, or posterity (v. 18).
(2) A throne—a royal authority (v. 13).
(3) A kingdom (v. 13).
(4) Perpetuity, that is, forever (v. 13).

This was an absolute promise. Disobedience on the part of David's seed would entail chastisement, but not an abrogation of the covenant.

2. For God's Goodness to the Nation (vv. 23-26). No other nation in all the world had been accorded such treatment. The central thought is God's goodness centered in his redemption of the nation from Egyptian bondage.

V. God Preserved David Wherever He Went (II Sam. 8:14, 15).

God will do the same for all those who trust Him.

Harry K. And Spring Thaw Coming At About The Same Time Again

Philadelphia, March 15 (INS.)—Threats made several months ago that legal efforts would be made to win freedom for Harry K. Thaw, millionaire and slayer of Stanford White were materialized today in the form of an application for a jury trial that is filed with President Judge J. Willis Martin, of Common Pleas court.

After considering the petition, Judge Martin set April 10, as the the hearing date. Unless objections, now unforseen, are raised about a delay, Thaw's sanity then will be a matter for jury consideration.

REED AND SHELDON SELECT A QUINTET

Following is an all-Section IV team selected by Coaches Reed and Sheldon; the former of Clearfield, and the latter of Punxsutawney:

Forwards, Friedman, of Punxsutawney, and Wilson, of Clearfield; centre, Brown of Clearfield; guards, Herrick, of Punxsutawney, and K. Barnie, of Clearfield. Kurtz and Wright are named as substitutes.

The reasons given for the selection of forwards is that Friedman is the high point getter of the section and Wilson a fast, heady player, also a good point getter. Wilson would be selected as captain of this team.

Brown is selected because of his height and ability to be where he is needed most.

Herrick because he is the best still guard in the league, and K. Barnie because of his all around ability as a basketballer.

In the Spirit selection Wright was named as a forward. The editor got mixed. Wright is an exceptionally good guard, but would hardly do as a forward. With Wright banished Swindell would be our choice.

INSURANCE FOR VETERANS

In proposing insurance for veterans of the World War, instead of an outright bonus, Congress is getting back to the original proposal made at the close of the war, though varying the method somewhat. It is also hitting upon a compromise which may come somewhere near satisfying both sides of the long controversy, among the service men and among the public.

The main feature of the present plan is an endowment insurance policy, running over a long period of years and maturing at an average beneficiary's age of around 60 years. The amount of the policy would vary with the length of service. The policies may be taken out in ordinary insurance companies, instead of being underwritten by the government itself, with the government merely paying the premiums. The total cost of such a plan is estimated at $2,000,000,000 or $3,000,000,000, with an expense to the government of perhaps $80,000,000 a year.

This cost obviously would not be prohibitive and could hardly be considered a serious burden on national prosperity. The public has not yet had an opportunity to express itself on the matter. General approval, however, could be taken for granted, if there were assurance that this would end the bonus campaign and forestall such pensioning of veterans as has followed all our previous wars.

WHAT AN AUTOMOBILE COSTS

Few people know what it costs them to own and operate an automobile. The usual method of reckoning the cost takes account only of the gasoline and oil, on a mileage basis, with possibly a rough guess made for wear of tires and other upkeep expenses.

Uncle Sam knows better than that. Government experts have been studying the subject, taking into consideration original cost, depreciation, gasoline, oil, tires, repairs, replacement, interest on investment, garage rent and all other proper items. They find the average cost of automobile transportation is 7 cents per car mile.

This is doubtless more than the average motorist realizes that his car costs him. It means $420 a year. A large car, or a car unusually wasteful of gasoline, will cost more than this. So will a car fully insured, or a car used only in its prime, while depreciation is rapid, instead of being used for its full life term. Even so, the cost is lower than it used to be.

Whether a motor car is economical, from a mere transportation viewpoint, depends mainly on how many people ride on it. Obviously 7 cents a mile is pretty high for one person. When carrying more than two persons, the car begins to save money for the family, as compared with railroad or suburban trolley transportation. For local use, the mileage basis would seldom be appropriate; the main consideration there is convenience.

Progress Editorials for Women

By FLORENCE DAVIES

He was a kindly old gentleman with graying hair and a wistful expression.

More than that, some half-remembered quality of distinction seemed to linger about him.

Sure enough, he presented the evidences of his achievements in a sizeable book, in which were carefully pasted the letters and clippings which told of his skill as a music teacher. Letters from well-known men praising his work, notes of commendation from the consul of one country to a high official in another country, clippings from the newspapers were all in the collection.

Everyone had been saved and carefully treasured as mute evidence of his essential—failure. Yes, failure, not, as they were supposed to be, a proof of his greatness.

For, alas! people who are doing big things need no proof of it.

As a matter of fact, the old gentleman had real ability. But something seemed to blight it something seemed to keep the world from knowing it. Everyone, instead, seemed to pity him a little, to try to think of some way of helping him, to pass him on with a glowing letter to a friend who might have pull.

What was the answer

Perhaps the answer lay in that very book, dog-eared and soiled, in which he vainly sought to clinch the fact that he was an artist, to nail it down once and for all so that the public, seeing, would have to believe. But the public, seeing, only shook its head, and realized a kind of inherent weakness in one who distrusted himself so greatly that he had devoted so much thought to saving the proofs of what he could do.

If you can do it today you don't need testimonials. If you can't do it, testimonials won't help.

Some people bother a good deal about keeping these records of their achievements. They may be nice enough for sentiment. But they aren't worth a fig in business.

Testimonials are mostly for quack remedies. Fresh air, and sunshine, ripe apples, juicy steaks, a little old fashioned baking soda in a cup of warm water, none of these everyday, ordinary things that work, need testimonials.

If you have treasured a lot of letters from teachers or employers telling what a bright child you were, pitch them out and make room for something else.

Today's job is the only testimonial that's worth lugging around with you.

WHAT IS SUCCESS?

By ROGER W. BABSON

World-Famous Statistician and Business Authority

III. — WHICH JOB IS BEST

(Copyright 1923, Fleming H. Revell Company. First published in this newspaper by arrangement with Babson Institute, Babson Park, Mass.

Without doubt a man's success is very closely bound up with his occupation. In the study of occupations, we find that they may be divided into four main groups:

(1) The Professional Group, including medicine, literature, law, the ministry and other professions.

(2) The Mechanical Group, including engineering, building, manufacturing, and the like.

(3) The Selling Group, including merchandising, advertising and distribution in all its phasesfl

(4) The Raw Material Group, including agriculture, forestry, mining and the production of basic commodities.

Very few persons are fitted for all four groups; most persons are fitted for only one of these groups. Hence, in preparing for success, it is most important that young people analyse themselves and go into the occupational group for which they are best fitted. Of course, such an analysis should not be tried too far. If one is a natural salesman, and best fitted for group three, it makes no difference what he sells, so long as it is something which makes people ultimately happier and better off. In the same way, a man who will succeed in agriculture will probably succeed in forestry. A man should keep out of a group for which he is not fitted; but after selecting the right group, he should not be too fussy about the special division of that group.

Opportunity in Every Line

There are opportunities in every line and every division. In the long run, these opportunities equalize themselves. Those lines which at the moment are most promising will soon be overcrowded, while those which today are unpopular may be the most attractive a few years hence. Each man must himself select the group to which he is to give his life; but after making that decision he can trust God to guide him into the right division of the group. To get into the right division it is only necessary to forget oneself and go unselfishly where the need is greatest.

Which Way is Your Firm Going?

It is very important that young people—and older ones, too—work with concerns and individuals who are aiming in the right direction. We all make mistakes, and we are all more or less hypocritical or at least inconsistent. Some of us, however, are striving hard to live and work according to right principles, while others are indifferent. In order to be happy a person must work with or for a concern which is striving to do what is right even if it often fails in the attempt.

The important factor in success is the motive, purpose and ambition of the person, possessing these tools. This motive, purpose and ambition is the product of religion. Hence it is all important that we work with and for men and women who also are building on a religious base. Many a good man with a religious foundation and a fair share of success qualities, has never succeeded because he has been working for or with those who have lacked the religious base. Such a good man may have built his own of another! The other person ultihouse, rock and all, on the sands of o fanother! The other person ultimately failed to succeed, and so the good man suffered likewise.

Is Money Success?

Statistics show clearly that success is absolutely dependent upon our employer and associates having a clear conscience. This does not mean that a man cannot secure money, influence or fame by questionable methods. But money or fame thus secured seldom does the owner or his children any permanent good. This is why so many concerns have gone to pieces when the younger generation came into control. Naturally I cannot decry material prosperity, for I have devoted my life to helping people acquite such prosperity. As my income is derived from such work, I should be the last to belittle it. A certain amount of material prosperity is necessary to assure a family the where-with-all to live, an education and a few luxuries. Every reader of this article should have all the material prosperity necessary for the needs of his family. However, there is a great difference between helping one's family and endowing one's family. Leaving one's children more than sufficient for their needs tends to weaken instead of strengthen them it becomes a temptation rather than an aid, thus often causing harm instead of good.

Work with Normal Folks

For the same reason, our employer or associates should have good health Now health is dependent largely upon a man's mode of life. There are instances where people have succeeded who were handicapped with poor health. There are many instances where one's health has been broken for a year or more before his greatest success came. Very often, an illness causes one to realize the value of the health lost so that on regaining health one guards it more carefully in the years following. To this extent an occasional illness may be a blessing in disguise, for it gives one a chance to take one's bearing and to determine one's latitude and longitude.

Some employers or partners will say that their occupation makes it impossible for them to live as God intended. Those who are so unfortunately situated should change their business. Certainly if this is true of the occupation which you are considering, you should not enter it. Working conditions, hours of labor, opportunities for exercise, the living situation, all should be weighed when one considers his occupation and with whom he is to work. Men and women—of all groups—are constantly selling their birthrights for messes of pottage by working for and with people who are not living right. If you, my reader, are in a position or business where you cannot enjoy both a clear conscience and good health, get out and go into something else. Never mind if you do not receive as much money— Money is not everything. Moreover, if it has been the means of others' losing their consciences and health, better beware!

A $6,000 Start

For the same reason, a helpful wife is of great importance. I know the head of a large New England manufacturing company who gave employment to a promising young man from his home town. He knew the parents of the boy, and they were of the best stock. He also knew the boy himself well, for at one time the lad had been in his Sunday School class—in fact, many of the department heads in his business were once boys whom he had known in Sunday School, and in the Y. M. C. A. This special boy, however, was a favorite with the manufacturer because of his high character and ability. At the start the boy made good. The first few years he made rapid advance, and at the age of twenty-three years he was receiving a salary of $6,000 a year, which was probably greater than any one was receiving in the town from which he came.

In the office was a very pretty stenographer. To this girl our young man took a great liking. Strange to say, the homeliest girl in a group of stenographers is usually the most efficient while the prettiest is usually the least efficient. This case was not exception. However, the girl was quick enought to realize that the young man had possibilities and was a "good catch." She thereupon set out to catch him and succeeded. They had a simple wedding and started housekeeping in a modest way.

Questionable Investments

At first she was satisfied with what he could easily afford. However, in a short time she wanted more and more She had always dressed attractively. She knew clothes—but unfortunately this was about all she did know. She had few other interests. Thus she bought more and more expensive clothes. Finding that they did not satisfy, she bought expensive furniture for the house. Then the house in which they lived did not suit her, and she insisted that her husband buy on time, a larger house in a more fashionable neighborhood. This soon caused him to spend his entire salary and run into debt.

The first "show down" came when the head of the concern decided to sell an interest in the business to four of his department heads, including this young man. To the employer's great disappointment, the young man had no money with which to seize the opportunity. Further, when he went to his bank to borrow, the bank informed him that his account did not warrant a loan. Moreover, the bank president knew that he owed bills and was living beyond his means. The bank president had a wife and daughters ,and he had often heard the young couple talked over at the break fast table.

Domestic Assets

The credit and success of a man have often been ruined by the extravagance of his wife. On the other hand, the reverse is more often true. Many a young man owes his success to an economical wife, and the fact that the banker's wife knows she is economical is a help to him. Hence, the loans of many town banks are determined by the family gossip and by the remarks consciously or unconsciously dropped by the banker's wife and children. Women often have far more to do with determining credits than have Dun or Bradstreet. Hence, when selecting associates, remember that the wife is the most important associate of all.

Fortunately, most women are real helpers. The great majority of women are making their husbands successful. A wife can make or break a man. Most successful men owe their success to their wives. Statistics would surely show that a man's wife is a most important factor in his success ,and the next factor is a good family of children. Moreover, statistics would probably show that the women who have been the most helpful to their husbands are those who have stayed at home and made real wives. Nothing spurs a man on to success more than a family of good children It may be difficult to rate statistically the true success of a man, but it is not so difficult with women. There are, of course, exceptions to every rule, but as a rule ,the success of a woman is often measured by the number of good boys and girls she rears to manhood and womanhood.

MUSICAL PROGRAM AT WEST SIDE TABERNACLE

In the absence of the pastor, who is attending conference, the Sunday evening service at the West Side Methodist tabernacle will be taken care of with a musical program by the choir, assisted by the orchestra.

From time to time it has been requested that anthems be repeated and the choir will take this opportunity of doing so, using the most popular anthems as a basis for the program. Special numbers, instrumental and vocal, will be an added feature of the evening and everyone is extended a very cordial invitation to come and enjoy the service with us.

They played Oil City off their feet in the first quarter, the exertion telling on their weakened physical powers to such an extent that Oil City outscored them and took the lead in the second quarter. The locals came back in the third session with all their old-time pep, snap, dash and vigor, the quarter ending with Clearfield in the lead. The terrific pace told on the boys again in the fourth quarter and the enemy managed to pull out ahead in the hardest fought game of their career.

Coach Reed and the team will be home on the 4:35 B. R. & P. train this evening. They deserve the royal welcome that will be given them. They sure fought a good fight down the line and all Clearfield is proud of them.

Find Mutilated Body Of Woman In Trunk Shipped From Denver To Pacific

Denver, Colo., March 15 (INS.)—Police today were searching for a man who shipped a trunk from this city to some point in California yesterday and in which the mutilated body of an unidentified woman was discovered in Ogden, Utah, this morning. According to reports to local police from Ogden, blood trickling from the trunk led railroad officials in Ogden to open the heavily weighed trunk.

Fate of Early Poisoners.

In medieval times in Europe poisoners, when detected, were usually broken alive upon the wheel, after having first been given a taste of the rack while in prison awaiting execution, as a sort of gentle reminder of what they had presently got to go through.

Matches of Hemp.

In the use of early firearms a match consisted of a cord of hemp or similar material treated with niter so that it continued to smolder after it had been ignited. The match was attached to the cock of the musket and brought down by the action of the trigger on the powder priming.

What's the Hurry?

"Why are you adding so many telephones now? Why are you putting up so many new buildings? Why all this expansion? Why not wait until conditions may be more favorable?"

Here's the answer:

We have no control over the demands for telephone service.

As a public utility we must provide a high-grade communication service for those who have telephones; and we must meet the demands for new service when and where they come.

The people of Pennsylvania are saying to us: "We want telephones"—more and more telephones.

There can be only one reply:

"You shall have them—just as quickly as we can place the equipment."

Regardless of difficulties, we must erect buildings, place the wires, cables and switchboards, and other equipment in the shortest time possible.

We have not sought this tremendous construction problem. But we welcome it; for every added telephone gives your telephone more power. We're in business for just that purpose.

Water Company Moves To Increase Supply

in order that every eventuality and emergency might be met in the providing of storage facilities and for the prevention of waste. With the change of the meter on the water line it is possible to estimate the exact consumption of any given-sized establishment, at least to within a very few hundred gallons of that consumption and thereby allow the water company to provide storage sufficient to meet that need, or any ordinary emergency need, with an exact outlay for plant and equipment, instead of making it necessary to provide much greater storage facilities with their subsequent increased outlay and corresponding natural increase in the price to the consumer.

The plan also provides for the placing of an additional 16-inch main line from the Montgomery reservoir to parallel the present 12-inch line. At present there is a 20-inch line extending from the Montgomery reservoir a distance of approximately 2,600 feet to the side of the original dam on this creek. From this point to the main distributing lines in the town a 12 inch line is used to convey the water. The new 16-inch line will be connected to the aforementioned 20-inch line where it end at the old dam and will parallel the 12-inch line for a distance of 7,000 feet where it will be connected into the 12 inch main. It is approximately three miles from there the 16-inch line runs to the borough limits and its completion is provided for with the plans. This 16 inch line will cross the river at or near Riverview bridge, several hundred yards above where the present 12-inch main crosses, and will be connected into the distributing system in the Reedsville section at a different point from the 12-inch line.

The placing of the proposed 3,000 feet of 16-inch main will deliver 250,000 gallons more water daily than at present, while it is expected that an estimated waste of 250,000 gallons will be saved by the 500 meter installations or a net increase of 500,000 gallons per day.

When the 16-inch parallel line is completed for the entire three miles between the 20-inch outlet at the original dam on Montgomery to the distributing system at the upper end of the Second Ward, this addition alone, with its divided transmission into the distributing system will increase the daily delivery more than 1,000,000 gallons over the present supply.

In addition to the above a study was made of storage conditions on Montgomery and additional storage was found necessary. This additional storage will be provided in one of two ways. There is considerable leakage from or under the present dam which is located on a rocky ledge, and if it is found possible to permanently repair these leaks and effectually guard against water loss therefrom, the present dam will be greatly enlarged. If this is found impossible or impractical after careful investigation, then a second dam will be built near the site of the original dam and 1,000 feet below the present dam, with a 20-foot pipe connection between the two dams. Then, too, it may be found practical and more advantageous to place the additional dam above the present dam on Montgomery.

The 16-inch pipe is being placed upon the ground and will be laid this spring. The work of installing the 500 meters mentioned is already underway and will be facilitated by the employment of larger crews when spring opens up, and will be continued until at least two-thirds of the consumption is metered, the exception being to the single-spigot consumers, who represent this one-third.

The water company has already enlarged their force of employes by securing the services of Charles Young as sanitary engineer. Mr. Young is a Clearfield boy, a graduate of the engineering department of State College and was employed as sanitary engineer by the West Virginia State Health Department, when his services were secured by his present employers.

A fully equipped meter department has been added with latest improved testing apparatus and devices. This new department is in the care of L. C. Meise.

A decision on the dam will be made in the near future, and possibly in time for work on the building of same to start this year, but its immediate construction has not been determined upon as yet.

Wheeler-Brookhart Inquiry

By WILLIAM K. HUTCHINSON

Washington, March 15.—Only three days old, the Wheeler-Brookhart investigation of Attorney General Harry M. Daugherty and the Department of Justice has produced such a multitude of super-sensational accusations and half veiled charges that the investigators themselves hardly know which way to turn today to get at the truth or falsity of the astounding stories divulged by Gaston B. Means, detective extraordinary, and Roxie Stinson, divorced wife of a man dead a year ago by his own hand.

Before the committee today was the forceful denial of the Attorney General of much of Roxie Stinson's testimony. He said he would take care of Means' sensational charges when the time came in the same way. But as for Roxie Stinson, Daugherty said:

"She is a disappointed woman who blames me because her divorced husband did not make her sole legatee under his will; an angry woman because the courts have decided against her in litigation over the estate; a malicious woman because friends of the Attorney General have brushed aside all her tentative efforts to capitalize her silence."

The testimony of neither Roxie Stinson nor Means, the Attorney General pointed out, would be admissible for a minute in a court of law.

Always the trail of corruption and bribery has led to the grave of Jesse Smith—never have the two "star" witnesses directly charged that any one now living participated in the profits from the alleged "deals" but always they have left the inference that Smith acted as "go-between" and "partner" with Government officials.

At one point testimony crossed paths.

Means testified Smith collected $100,000 in new thousand dollar bills from a Japanese who represented the Mitsui Company and the Standard Aircraft Corporation for his influence in having a Government war fraud suit stopped.

Roxie Stinson testified that once when Smith came to see her he had 75 thousand dollar bills in a money belt around his waist.

The committee today planned to recall Roxie Stinson, leaving further investigation of Means' halftold tales until next week.

The story related by Means still thrilled the capital today. Known as the best detective in America, Means has been connected with a score of National scandals in the last decade. A chubby figure, with a wide smile, he appears more like corner grocer than America's "best investigator" the compliment paid him by Wm. J. Burns, head of the Bureau of investigation in the Department of Justice.

"Burns is an honest man," he told the Senate Committee privately before taking the witness stand. "He is my friend. Don't ask me any questions about him for I won't answer you. Burns wasn't in on these deals and if he was, I would lie to you about them."

A strain of conceit marked his attitude when first summoned. To Wheeler, he said: "Show me where a bird lighted out there this morning and I'll bring you the bird by nightfall."

Thrifty folks read the Progress ads.

NOTICE

Notice is hereby given that on the 29th day of February, 1924, the Keystone Bath Company filed in the Court of Common Pleas of Clearfield County, its petition, praying for a decree of dissolution, and that a hearing upon said application for dissolution has been fixed by said Court for Thursday, March 27, 1924 at 10 o'clock a. m., when and where all persons interested may attend, and show cause against the granting of the prayer of the said petitioner if they so desire.

Curwensville's Own Column

The Sophomore social and dance held in the Red Men's rooms Thursday evening was a pronounced success in every particular. A large crowd of the class as well as a number of invited guests were on hand and entered into the evening's enjoyment with zest and zeal. The fishing pond was one of the amusements that drew the attention of all. Taking all things into consideration it was one of the most enjoyable events of the winter season.

The Knightes of Pythias meeting and social entertainment last Thursday evening was a session that will long be remembered in the Pythian annals of Curwensville. It was a part of a 60th anniversary of the order. After the regular routine of lodge business had been completed, five minutes was allotted to each member present to say something relative to the order and the magnificent work it had accomplished throughout the country. All in all it was an interesting session, and much good derived from the talks made.

Dr. Geo. C. Jenkins made a sale of a portion of his residence lot this week, the purchaser being an Italian by name of Serento, the sale price being $1,200. The lot sold has a frontage on South Pine street of 50 feet and running back 75 feet. The purchaser we are told will erect a dwelling house thereon some time this spring.

A farm demonstrating car will give an exhibition at the B. R. & P. station on Saturday next, March 22n. The Kantar State street store is undergoing repairs being enlarged, reshelved, painted and papered. When completed a double stock will be carried from that of the present.

Dr. James S. McGaw will talk in the M. E. church Sunday evening on "America for Christ." He is quite an orator and should have a bangup audience.

Several car loads of automobiles have been unloaded in Curwensville this week and distributed among dealers. Bonsall & Holton unloaded a car lot yesterday. This firm disposed of six new Chevrolet cars this week.

Vincent DiPalma has disposed by sale of two lots out in Naulton Addition. Both lots brought a good price

Curwensville borough should follow the example set by Punxsutawney and place a fixed rate as a tax on all autos used for hauling loads over the streets. Its a good idea and worth trying out.

Geo. L. Benner has gone to Philadelphia delegated by the Masonic body to purchase light fixtures for the new home and also all other pharaphernalia necessary.

Weasel's Coat Quickly Whitens.

In cold countries where snow prevails during a long winter many animals change the hue of their coats to white tint The case of the weasel is especially curious; it retains its brown coat until the first snow appears, and then whitens in a few hours.

ROAD WAGE RATE IS NOT 45 CENTS AN HOUR

Our attention has been called to an error in the road story the other day in which it was stated that forty-five cents an hour was paid to the snow shovellers on the state road. This is an error, the rate being in most instances thirty-five cents per hour, depending on the class of work and the locality.

Paul Berlenbach, Touted As Champ Timber, Easy Victim Of Jack Delaney

By DAVIS J. WALSH
I N S. Sports Editor . .

..New York, March 15.—Once upon a time there was a bubble—sheer, multicolored and beautiful to behold—that was expanded to its semi-elastic limits. Attining its full growth over night, it was released upon a vagrant breeze where all might see and admire for a consideration strictly financial. Then—pouf. It was gone

In the midst of the wildest scenes enacted in this man's town since the Dempsey—Firpo frolic, Paul Berlenbach, Royal high executioneer of fistic hopes, was knocked out last night after 2 minutes and 36 seconds of fighting in the fourth round by Jack Delaney.

The great Berlenbach bubble is no more.

One moment it was there. The next it was gone. That is a habit common to bubbles, and Berlenbach, without taking any meed of credit from Delaney, proved to be nothing else. He had scored 23 or 26 straight knockouts, comptometers disagree on this point but burst with a faint "pop" upon meeting something substantial.

Delaney was all of that. Too fast for Berlenbach, too experienced and altogether too good, he left no doubt in the minds of some 18,000 or our best people that the so-called "one punch man" that he has no place in the first flight of middleweights now or perhaps at any other time. Rickard can abandon with all due haste any intention he may have had of building Berlenbach up for a match with Greb. A burst bubble can never be used again. One must blow another or abandon this engrossing past time altogether.

Would Be a Boon.

Any guy who would invent something effective to take the cut out of the cutworm would be sure of everlasting fame.—Boston Globe.

There is a total of twenty-seven cases of communicable disease under quarantine in the town at present and they are located as follows:

1st Ward—None.

2nd Ward—Whooping Cough, 10; Scarlet fever, 1.

4th Ward—Scarlet fever, 1; Measles, 1; Whooping Cough, 1.

LEGION PUTTING ON INTENSE DRIVE FOR MEMBERS THIS WEEK

The members of the local Legion post are starting a week's membership drive by which they hope to get every world war veteran of this community who is the holder of an honorable discharge. In order that the public may see the results of the drive a large thermometer will be on display in one of the show windows of a store on Market or Second street. The thermometer will show the membership of the post for the past years and the daily membership during the drive.

The Clearfield post last year stood ninth in the whole state, ranking with Johnstown, Wilkesbarre, Altoona, and the other larger cities, and are this year out to beat that record. On March 8, 1924 they maintained their last year's rank with a membership of 325, being 34 below Altoona, who holds eighth place.

Inasmuch as the post's activities for this year are of unusual interest to the ex-service men of the community, every ex-service man should join. The members of the John Lewis Shade post have unselfishly devoted their efforts for the benefit of the disabled and betterment of the community. The reputation established thru their activities has become state-wide and their program for the year affords the ex-service man an excellent opportunity to do something for the community.

It is the intention of the local post to establish a permanent record of the ex-service men of this community and this alone should be sufficient inducement for every world war veteran to affiliate with the Legion. The local post will be incorporated and the charter, when granted, will include an alphabetical list of the members of the post in good standing. The charter will be recorded in the recorder's office, where it can always be found—a condensed and permanent record of the world war veterans of this community.

Aged Jefferson County Woman Commits Suicide By Hanging In Her Home

Punxsutawney, Pa., Mar. 14. (INS.)—Mrs. Harmon Peffer, 72, one of the most highly respected residents of Marchard, was found hanging in the attic of her home today by her husband. Mrs. Peffer had been in ill health for two years, and sometimes became demented during these attacks.

It is believed that she was suffering from one of these spells when she committed suicide today.

Mrs. John Dufton, who is a medical patient at the hospital, is much improved.

WANTED BOY FOR A WEEK TO REPLACE ONE SHE LOST

Gave the Name of Mrs. Ralph Hall of Big Run; Can't be Found There; Nobody Knows Her.

TRACED TO DUBOIS

A state-wide search was instituted today for Billie, the little three and a half year old son of Mrs. Florence Parker, an employe of the Children's Home here, who loaned her little boy to a woman who visited the home recently and who claimed she was the mother of a little boy who had died recently, leaving her lonely and distraught.

The woman about 28 years of age, well dressed and having bobbed hair, arrived in Clearfield on Wednesday, March 5th, and immediately went to the office of the County Commissioners, where she asked Commissioner Weimer if the county had under its charge a boy which she could adopt. Commissioner Weimer informed her that the county had no such child at the present time but when she indicated that she wanted to be advised when it did, he very thoughtfully asked the woman for references. She gave her name as Mrs. Ralph Hall, of Big Run, Pa., and the following men as references: E. R. Henry, D. R. Moore, George Welder, Adam Welder and Hotelman Conrad, all of Big Run, Pa.

The lady then asked if she might go to the Children's Home to look over the children there and Commissioner Weimer told her that he could have no objection provided the home authorities did not. She went to the home early in the afternoon and spent the balance of the afternoon there chatting with those who work there and taking a great interest in the children, particularly little Billie who was just about the age of the boy she said she lost. Being of pleasant manner and address, no suspicions were aroused and on her announcement that she intended to take the afternoon jitney leaving here at 5:40 o'clock for DuBois, she was permitted to stay for supper. Sometime during the afternoon she asked Mrs. Parker if she might not take Billy home with her for a week. At first, quite naturally, Mrs. Parker demurred but the pleading seemed to be so in earnest that Mrs. Parker gave her consent and Billie was made ready for the visit, which certainly could not be begrudged to any youngster penned up in the Home with no outside contacts as those unfortunate children are.

Billie was arrayed in a tan overcoat, U. S. Navy cap and brown shoes and given a package containing clothing changes as well as a brown cap and blue sweater and together they happily started on their journey to the DuBois jitney.

That was the last seen or heard of the woman and Billie and while no fears are entertained for the little boy's safety and welfare, the sudden disappearance which has been known for a couple of days is growing very perplexing.

Hearing no word of the safe arrival of the couple at Big Run, Mrs. Parker became worried and communicated her anxiety to close associates and relatives. Her brother, Dean Read, took charge of the matter a couple days ago and assisted by the county authorities and the state policemen has instituted a fine tooth comb search using the press, the radio and every means to find the boy and his alleged abductor.

Wife Of Ramey Priest, Who Slew Chicago Priest Declared Insane by Court

Chicago, March 14.—Mrs. Emily Strutzinsky, wife of Rev. Nicholas Strutzinsky, pastor of the Lithuanian Greek Catholic Church in Ramey, Clearfield county, who on Oct. 7, last, shot to death Rev. Basil Stetsuk, rector of the St. Michael's Ukrainian church here, was on Tuesday of this week adjudged insane by a jury in Judge Harry A. Lewis' court. The woman has been committed to the state asylum at Kankakee.

The murder was committed on a Sunday morning as the woman kneeled before the altar ostensibly to make a confession at the 9 o'clock mass. Following the shooting Mrs. Strutzinsky claimed that she was justified in her act, charging that the dead man was a "hypocrite" and was "betraying her people." Mrs. Strutzinsky is 44 years of age while the slain priest was 36 at the time of his death.

Dr. N. Douglas Singer and Dr. W. O. Krohn testified that the woman was insane at the time of the shooting.

Emil Gdozbjak, a Sunday school teacher at St. Michael's church, was the first witness. He said that on the morning of the shooting Mrs. Strutzinsky had come into the church, apparently in trouble.

"Mr. Gdozbjak," she said, "I am looking for Father Stetsuk. It is important for the welfare of the congregation and our suffering people elsewhere that I see him at once."

Mr. Gdozbjak showed her where Father Stetsuk was and then went up into the choir loft.

"A minute later," he testified. "I heard an explosion. I ran downstairs and found Father Stetsuk dying on the altar. I took a pistol away from the woman and called the police."

BIDS LET FOR TWO PIECES OF ROAD IN SANDY TOWNSHIP

Harrisburg, Pa., March 15. (INS.)—The State Highway Department yesterday rejected all bids for eight new road projects in as many counties and at the same time awarded six contracts in five other counties.

The rejections are the second since Commissioner Wright announced that all bids submitted must reflect changes in structural specifications which the Highway Department experts say will reduce cost.

Bids rejected included:

Indiana county, routes 314 and 223, Armagh borough and East Wheatfield township.

Lycoming county, route No. 333 Muncy township.

Somerset county, route No. 50, spur A. New Centerville and Rockwood borough, Milford townships.

Bids accepted were:

Clearfield county: Tom S. McMahon, of Brookville, 1,525 feet of reinforced concrete on route No. 59, in Sandy township not far from DuBois, at his bid of $21,950.80. This is a county job.

Clearfield county: To Milliron Construction Company, Inc., DuBois, 9,210 feet of reinforced concrete, on route No. 59, in Sandy township, near DuBois, at its low bid of $98,896.92. Clearfield county is also paying $28.000 on this road.

Westmoreland county: To James L. Rinehart, East Liverpool, Ohio. 3,304 feet of reinforced concrete in Irwin borough. at his low bid of $61,-910.45. This is a Lincoln highway job and will replace the worst section of the road on that thoroughfare in Pennsylvania.

WATER COMPANY MOVES TO INCREASE THE WATER SUPPLY OF CLEARFIELD TO A MILLION EXTRA GALLONS PER DAY

WORK PROGRESSES

The Clearfield Water Company does not propose to be caught without a sufficient supply of water for their patrons during the coming "dry season" of 1924, nor for any other season for that matter, if the application of careful business judgment and the advice and assistance of expert engineers will work out the problem confronting the water company in this rapidly growing community.

We long have had an abundance of purest mountain water for at least ten months in the year, with ample supply to carry through the annually recurring drouth period in the fall, provided of course, care against waste was used in the main or level part of the town with an occasional shut off of the New York Central engine supply, of the large consumers.

It was demonstrated last year that it was necessary, in order that an adequate and ample supply of water might be available at all times, drouth period or no, that some measures must be taken to control and enlarge the supply. With that end in view the best engineering experts in Western Pennsylvania, already familiar with the Clearfield situation, were called in and set to work devising the most feasible plan for adding to Clearfield's water supply, while at the same time keeping the outlay for improved or enlarged plant at the lowest possible notch in order that no, or in any case, very little increase in the price to the consumer would have to be made.

These engineers went upon the ground with the water company, canvassed the situation from its every angle and offer a plan, accepted by the board of directors of the company, which in effect requires the metering of the water by installation of 500 meters at once and the ultimate placing of all consumers on meters. This move is recommended, not as a revenue producer as might be expected, but simply for the purpose of accurately gauging the needed supply

BOOM BASEBALL NOW IF YOU WOULD HAVE FIRST RATE TEAM

Public Meeting Called for Arbitration Room of Court House Mon. Evening at 7:30.

CONSIDER LEAGUE

The time is rapidly approaching in this community, as in every other section all over this broad land when baseball rolls out of the last storm of winter or early spring and assumes the center of the stage.

As a result of the annual baseball urge 100 per cent fans in Clearfield Philipsburg, Osceola and Tyrone are already figuring on organizing a league to embrace the towns mentioned

The idea is to create a four-town league of all Simon-pure home town players, with the iron clad proviso that no pro or semipro players will get a lookin.

In order that the movement may get properly under way town meetings are being arranged in the four towns for the purpose of selecting representatives to attend a joint meeting in the near future at which the league plan will be worked out.

To this end local fans, and that includes everybody interested in base ball will meet at the Arbitration Room of the Court House on Monday evening, March 17th at 7:30 o'clock, at which meeting the proposed league will be discussed and representatives chosen to attend the joint meeting mentioned.

There is no reason why such an organization should not be formed and there is no reason why such a league could not be supported, the season could start about the middle of May and continue up into September and thus assume some real pleasure and recreation during the summer.

Let everybody interested in baseball attend Monday night's meeting.

Pitsburgh, Pa., March 15. (INS.)—Fire which totally destroyed the interior of the Elks club on the North Side today caused damage estimated at $200,000 and forced Charles Campbell and his wife to hee for their lives.

Pitsburgh—Continuance of daylight saving hours here this summer seemed certain as the result of Attorney General Woodruff's ruling on its legality.

Pitsburgh—Dr. William H. Thompson is suffering from severely burned hands received when he tore a flaming dress off his wife. The garment had caught fire from a fire in an open grate.

OIL CITY WON BUT OH BOY! OUR LADS HAD THEM A'GOING

Clearfield High School's premier basketball team, which clinched the sectional championship by winning from both Punxsutawney and DuBois on Tuesday and Wednesday evenings in settling the triple tie for first place in this section at the end of the league season, went down to defeat in the last quarter of a strenuous game with Oil City last evening on the Grove City College floor in the inter-sectional contests.

There were four teams entered at Grove City and it was our luck to get Oil City in the draw, this team being touted as the strongest quintet in Western Pennsylvania.

The local lads put up a great contest, but were forced to succumb in the final quarter, when over-taxed flesh and blood could not withstand the attack of their huskier and fresher opponents. The score, 31-26, tells the story of the stubborn fight put up by our own, but six games in nine days was too much of a drain on the reserve strength of the team and the boys were forced to go down to defeat, though struggling gamely and with that "never say die" spirit which has marked their work all season.

Justifiable Homicide Is the Verdict Against Man Who Killed Gland Robber

Louisville, Ky., Mar. 14. (INS.)—A coroner's jury today returned a verdict of justifiable homicide in the killing last Saturday of Richard H. Beaton, would-be gland robber, by William C. Gates, his intended victim.

Gates will go on trial in police court tomorrow morning and tell for the first time on the witness stand his story of the three days imprisonment which preceded the slaying.

Whaler-Brookhart Inquiry Looking Into Film Deals

Washington, March 15. (INS.)—From the sandy stretches of the Mexican border to the sun-baked Jersey arena where Jack Dempsey fought Georges Carpentier, the Senate committee pursued its investigation of Harry M. Daugherty today, adducing from a number of witnesses, openly testimony relating to film "deals," the activities of border gun runners, and laxity of law enforcement by the Department of Justice.

Today's evidence lacked the lurid sensationalism of yesterday, and yet it brought out the seeming existence of a nation-wide conspiracy to exhibit the Dempsey-Carpentier fight films in violation of federal statute, and its successful were the promoters in "getting around" the law that F. C. Quinby, the principal witness, admitted making $125,000.

Quinby proved an evasive witness under a drumfire of questions by Senators as to whether the Department of Justice "was not fixed." He said "he presumed" an arrangement existed, but he knew of none of the details. All he knew was that Will Orr, former secretary to Gov. Whitman of New York; Jesse Smith, late best companion of the Attorney General, and Jap Mama, a newspaper correspondent, friendly with Daugherty, got a cut in on the profits for their efforts in getting around the law.

Quinby said he realized he could have been stopped at any time from exhibiting his pictures by an injunction, but the Department of Justice got out none. On cross examination by Daugherty's lawyer, he admitted he finally stopped showing under the threat of prosecution by the department.

Frank Captain B. C. Baldwin, a lanky "Texas ranger," formerly an operative in the Department of Justice, the committee secured some of the spiciest and at times most humorous testimony of the session.

Baldwin said the Department of Justice ordered its agents not to investigate law violations and that the agents also were under orders not to investigate district attorneys, or other important office holders without express permission from Washington.

Baldwin said he had been active, too, in suppressing gun runners along the border and for these activities he was transferred away from the border patrol, leaving "250 miles of border wide open."

A group of Americans, unnamed, but supposedly connected with the "oil interests" were trying to foment a revolution in Mexico, Baldwin said, hence the gun-running.

But the spiciest of the ranger's testimony related to "liquor permits" liquor "deals" engaged in by federal office holders in Texas.

Baldwin swore that some of "my boys" rangers) caught Harry Hamilton, group head of the prohibition forces in Texas, delivering a "talk to some bootleggers."

"I saw Hamilton deliver three stiffs he confessed from bootleggers to other bootleggers and receive money from them," Baldwin said. "I arrested him and three other men. I asked John D. Hartman, district attorney in the western half of Texas to authorize the filing of a complaint against these men.

"Hartman said it was a serious question because Hamilton was a Republican and appointed from the same source as he (Hartman) was. He said he would tell me later in the day what I should do.

"I thought I'd follow Hartman and I found that he went to the office of Dave Walker, brother-in-law of Attorney General Daugherty. I met Hartman and he said he didn't want to file a complaint himself so I filed one myself at his suggestion. This was irregular as the custom was against state officials filing complaints in the federal courts."

Baldwin said his witnesses against Hamilton were not called when the grand jury considered the case.

"I insisted my witnesses be called but they were not," said Baldwin.

"Hartman admitted to me it was a political matter with him and not one of law. He said he got his appointment from the same source that Hamilton did."

ODDS AND ENDS AND THINGS

By J. D. C.

We are getting interested in the following ourselves, so pass it along for what it's worth:

Are you too heavy?

Then omit from your diet cream soups, potatoes, gravies, milk, butter, sauces, sugar, desserts, cereals. Instead eat fresh vegetables, fruits, some meats and stock soups.

As soon as your weight approaches normal, you may again include in your diet some of the forbidden foods.

Or perhaps the scales tell you that you are too light.

Then you should eat cream soups, gravies, potatoes, cream, milk, butter, sugar, cooked cereals, in addition to fruits, vegetables and meat.

You will find it more healthful to regulate your diet than to take pills. —Hygeia.

In the first number of a new religious journal at Princeton University, The Real Issue, a leading article by Henry Norris Russell, professor of astronomy, estimates the age of the earth as about 10,000,000 years, adding that life may have existed on it more than 1,000,000,000 years.

It is the complexity, rather than the vastness of the universe, however, the writer asserts, which points conclusively to an intelligence or power which "we may well term personal."

The death of 175 miners in a Montana mine last week was the first big mine disaster for 1924. Death in the mines is no unusual thing. It is an every day matter, and the totals do not change much from year to year. Accidents accompanied by wholesale fatalities are reported on the front page, but the steady drip of human life which goes constantly with the production of our national fuel escapes notice. In 1922 there were 848,932 men employed in coal mines in the United States, of whom 1,971 were killed in accidents, to say nothing of the injured, a much higher proportion. In 1921 out of 823,253 employed, 1887 were killed. In 1920, out of 784,621, 2,271 were killed. For every million tons dug from the pits four lives are paid.

The affairs of District No. 2, U. M. W. of A., with headquarters at Clearfield, are economically administered according to the following from Friday's Altoona Mirror:

What do they pay the men who look after the interests of the 42,799 members of the United Mine Workers in district No. 2, embracing the central Pennsylvania bituminous field, and handle approximately $2,000,000 in union funds?

This would seem to be a timely question, in view of the fact that the district convention is being held in Altoona this week.

It would be only natural to suppose that John Brophy, the district president, about whom you doubtless have been reading in the report of the convention proceedings, received a sweet salary.

Directing the affairs of 42,799 miners is no easy job.

It requires brains. It requires long hours. It requires days spent away from home.

The only time the president can observe the eight hour day is when he is at home, which is not for long periods at a stretch.

Well, the report shows that he received in salary and expenses last year $3,855.35.

His salary is probably $2,500, certainly not more than $3,000, which is very modest for what he is supposed to know and do.

Vice President James Mark received more money, but his expenses were no doubt greater. Mark was paid $4,631.12.

Richard Gilbert, the secretary-treasurer, was likewise modestly paid, receiving $3,074.46 in salary and expenses.

If Brophy were the head of a private business enterprise employing 42,799 men he would probably be getting anywhere from $15,000 to $50,000 a year and expenses, and Gilbert would be drawing anywhere from $10,000 to $25,000 a year.

Executive board members received more salary and expense money than the district officers.

H. E. Carletti was paid $5,163.12; Tony Badiali, $4,912.25, and David Cowan, $4,894.70.

So did the organizers.

Mike Fazio in salary and expenses received $5,010.54; Clarence Donaldson, $4,688.05, and John Soltis, $4,309.92.

These men must travel around a great deal and consequently their expense bills are necessarily high.

Striking an average, however, the total cost to the district is reasonable.

The district paid out last year in salaries and expenses to the eight officers, eleven executive board members, eleven organizers and office force of five, or a total of 35 persons, the sum of $99,429.54.

This is an average of $2,840 each, which includes both salary and expenses, bear in mind.

District 2 seems to be operated pretty economically.

WANTED BOY FOR A WEEK

Traced to DuBois

Wednesday of this week, one week after the woman left with the boy, Mr. Read boarded the 5:40 jitney for DuBois in an effort to trace the couple. He found that they had left the jitney at the B. & S. crossing at DuBois where they entered a little store and purchased some candy for the boy. There the trail was lost. Mr. Read went on to Big Run and could find no trace of the men whose names were given as references except Adam Welder and Hotelman Conrad, but both of these men had no knowledge of such a woman.

When Mrs. Parker left the woman have the boy it was with the understanding that the woman should send her a card immediately on her arrival home. There was also an arrangement that Mrs. Parker was to go over to Big Run the following Sunday at which time she was going to take over a change of clothing. Billie wore a blue gingham suit when he left. Mrs. Parker's duties were such that she could not go on Sunday but did go on the following Tuesday but nobody she could find at Big Run could tell her anything of Mrs. Ralph Hall who claimed to live on R. D. 2 about one mile out of Big Run.

Clue at Punxy

Mr. Read on his visit to Big R this week tried every means to find the woman but he too had to return without finding the woman or any trace of her. Continuing on to Punxsutawney, Mr. Read interviewed many of the men with whom a visitor to the town might come in touch and there got a clue which it is hoped may shed some light on the mystery. A trolley conductor to whom descriptions were given said he believed he carried such a passenger with such a little boy on Tuesday or Wednesday of this week but did not remember where they got on the car or where they got off. A barber shop reported that a woman answering the description had visited his shop Tuesday or Wednesday where the boy's hair was cut. And a dentist reported having who was accompanied by a little boy. To all of these men the woman was fixed a front tooth for such a woman a stranger.

There is a connection between the visit to the dentist's office and the woman as she told Mrs. Parker that she intended to visit a dentist within a day or so to have a tooth put back into a set of false teeth. The tooth broken off was a front tooth which detracted from her appearance. She told Mrs. Parker, "You will not know me when you see me again for I am going to have this tooth fixed."

Mrs. Parker described the woman to a representative of The Progress today as being from 25 to 28 years of age, light-hair bobbed, wearing a long dark coat of a blue or gray texture with stripes running up and down. She wore a medium sized dark hat with flower trimming and had a veil when she first came to the home. Later she raised the veil up over the hat.

Little Billie is a chubby lad of three and a half years of age, weighs about 40 pounds, is about 32 inches high, has very light hair, light blue eyes and large for his age.

If any information is had by any reader of The Progress call Bell 47 or H. & C. 176 at once. If during the evening or on Sunday call H. & C. 502L.

James Purdon, a student of Dickinson College, has returned home to spend the vacation with his parents.

LEADCLAD

Nothing but PURE LEAD exposed to weather.

Lead cannot rust.

Why spoil your building every Four or Five years? Use LEADCLAD and save worry and expense.

LEADCLAD is made by coating a special analysis base with an extra heavy coating of pure lead by a process that positively eliminates pin holes or fractures in the coating. We have termed LEADCLAD as a 60-pound coating, which is 50 per cent heavier than the coating on ordinary 40-pound terne plate, but in reality, LEADCLAD carries a coating equivalent to about 66 pounds per box of 112 sheets. This is almost three times as much as the coating of zinc applied to Galvanized sheets. LEADCLAD will last without painting at least twice as long as Galvanized or tin plate, and when we make this statement, we are playing safe because in practically every instance, LEADCLAD has lasted four or six times longer than Galvanized material of the same gauge and under the same conditions.

Raise Healthier Children and We Have A Stronger Nation

Milk Has Its Place In This Program

One of the duties every parent owes themselves, their children and society as a whole is to raise healthy children. The facts shown by the examinations during the Great War brought out much evidence that the men who were examined had been undernourished during childhood—and some of these men were from homes where there always had been plenty, where the menus were made to please the palate rather than contain foods which would build up body and brain.

The best place to remedy these conditions is to start with the child. Give the children plenty of the sort of food which will build up their bodies and we will have a nation which will be the opposite of the old saying that we are getting weaker and wiser. We can maintain the wisdom, in fact the proper nutriments will increase the strength of mind as well as body.

When your kiddies ask for something to eat give them a lunch of bread and milk or crackers and milk, then see that their meals contain enough of the things in which milk is used in preparation, so that they get at least a quart a day.

And the milk we deliver has gone through the pasteurization process, which assures you of freedom from many disease germs.

THE REIGN OF DAVID

LESSON TEXT — II Sam. 7:18-29; 8:14, 15. (Read I Sam. 16 to II Sam. 24.)

GOLDEN TEXT—I delight to do Thy will, O my God.—Ps. 40:8.

PRIMARY TOPIC—A Shepherd Boy Becomes King.

JUNIOR TOPIC—David and Goliath.

INTERMEDIATE AND SENIOR TOPIC—David a Character Study.

YOUNG PEOPLE AND ADULT TOPIC—What David Achieved for Israel.

I. Chosen King While a Shepherd Boy (I Sam. 16:1-13).

1. Samuel Sent to Bethlehem (vv. 1-5). Samuel was directed to go to Bethlehem and from among the sons of Jesse choose a successor. God instructed him to avoid publicity by the concealment of his real purpose. Samuel was not under obligation to tell all that he knew, especially since the parties had no moral right to know.

2. Samuel Anointed David (v. 13). Though the Lord has refused to choose one of the eldest sons of Jesse, when this stripling of a boy came before Samuel, the Lord indicated His choice. This anointing typified the enduement of the Holy Spirit which is essential for any and all service for God.

II. David's Training.

1. In the Open Fields (I Sam. 16:11-13; 17:34-37). As a young man, his business was to keep his father's sheep. The prevailing tendency of such an occupation would be to take things easily, but David did not fall into a life of indolence. He became such a skilled musician that he was called to play his harp before the king. He was also an expert marksman, so that he could throw a stone with such precision as to need only one throw to down the Philistine giant. Then, too, he was physically fitted, for he had been "educated in the school of the lion and the bear."

2. In the King's Court (I Sam. 18:2, 21:24). Here was formed that tie of friendship with Jonathan which not only was a bright spot in David's life, but lives in history as a unique affair.

3. In the Cave of the Outlaw (I Sam. 21:10; 22:1). The king had given commandment to kill David. When the truth of this was realized David fled to the king of Gath, where he feigned madness. Though David did some foolish and unbecoming things during this time, he is to be commended for his self-mastery in that he would not touch the Lord's anointed.

III. David Made King of Judah (II Sam. 2:1-4).

Trusting God, David went to Hebron, where the men of Judah anointed him king over them. Thus, a part of the nation recognized him as king and ratified the work which Samuel did years before.

1. The Dual Kingdom (II Sam. 2:8; 4:12). Most of the tribes of Israel held to Ishbosheth, Saul's son, whom Abner had proclaimed king of Mahanaim. Feuds continued between the rival factions. David's power increased, while that of Ishbosheth waned. This period of civil war lasted seven and a half years.

2. David Crowned King of United Israel (II Sam. 5:1-5). Abner's death and Ishbosheth's assassination put an end to David's opposition. Besides, David's behavior during this time gradually won for him the confidence of the tribes, so that they all came to him at Hebron and anointed him as their king. They assigned as their reasons for anointing him their king:

(1) He was their brother (v. 1).

(2) He was their true leader in war, even in Saul's time (v. 2).

(3) He was the Lord's choice (v. 2).

IV. David's Worship and Prayer (II Sam. 7:18-26).

1. For God's Goodness to Him (vv. 18-22). This was shown in promising to build him a house. The content of this covenant is set forth in verses 8-16. It contains the following elements:

(1) A house, or posterity (v. 18).

(2) A throne—a royal authority (v. 13).

(3) A kingdom (v. 13).

(4) Perpetuity, that is, forever (v. 13).

This was an absolute promise. Disobedience on the part of David's seed would entail chastisement, but not an abrogation of the covenant.

2. For God's Goodness to the Nation (vv. 23-26). No other nation in all the world had been accorded such treatment. The central thought is God's goodness centered in his redemption of the nation from Egyptian bondage.

V. God Preserved David Wherever He Went (II Sam. 8:14, 15).

God will do the same for all those who trust Him.

A Poor Business.

Harry K. And Spring Thaw Coming At About The Same Time Again

Philadelphia, March 15 (INS.)—Threats made several months ago that legal efforts would be made to win freedom for Harry K. Thaw, millionaire and slayer of Stanford White were materialized today in the form of an application for a jury trial that is filed with President Judge J. Willis Martin, of Common Pleas court.

After considering the petition, Judge Martin set April 10, as the the hearing date. Unless objections, now unforseen, are raised about a delay, Thaw's sanity then will be a matter for jury consideration.

REED AND SHELDON SELECT A QUINTET

Following is an all-Section IV team selected by Coaches Reed and Sheldon; the former of Clearfield, and the latter of Punxsutawney:

Forwards, Friedman, of Punxsutawney, and Wilson, of Clearfield; centre, Brown of Clearfield; guards, Herrick, of Punxsutawney, and K. Barnie, of Clearfield. Kurtz and Wright are named as substitutes.

The reasons given for the selection of forwards is that Friedman is the high point getter of the section and Wilson a fast, heady player, also a good point getter. Wilson would be selected as captain of this team.

Brown is selected because of his height and ability to be where he is needed most.

Herrick because he is the best all guard in the league, and K. Barnie because of his all around ability as a basketballer.

In the Spirit selection Wright was named as a forward. The editor got mixed. Wright is an exceptionally good guard, but would hardly do as a forward. With Wright banished Swindell would be our choice.

—Punxsy Spirit.

10 daring tests of Oakland's Duco Body-finish

See These Tests

Muriatic Acid—It does not harm Oakland's new finish.

Sulphuric Acid—A finish that stands this test will stand the hardest usage.

Fire—Even a flame cannot harm Oakland's finish.

Fire Extinguisher—It kills fires but not the brightness of Oakland's finish.

Lime Cement—This test proves that it's hard to harm Duco finish.

Hot Tar—See how easy it is to clean road tar from Duco.

Boiling Water—It is fine to know that the finish will stand this test.

Mud—See a muddy car cleaned with a dry cloth without harm to its finish!

Dust—With Duco you can safely dust your car as often as you please.

Every day and evening, beginning March 17th and ending March 22, we will put on a most unusual demonstration at our show room. The beautiful new Duco body finish of the True Blue Oakland will be tested and its remarkable qualities proved right before your eyes.

After seeing these tests, listed at the left, you will realize what a wonderful advance Oakland has made in bringing out this new finish.

Come—Bring the Family! See These Tests

Examine, too, the many other advanced features of the 1924 Oakland, the desirability of which can also be demonstrated just as conclusively.

INSURANCE FOR VETERANS

In proposing insurance for veterans of the World War, instead of an outright bonus, Congress is getting back to the original proposal made at the close of the war, though varying the method somewhat. It is also hitting upon a compromise which may come somewhere near satisfying both sides of the long controversy, among the service men and among the public.

The main feature of the present plan is an endowment insurance policy, running over a long period of years and maturing at an average beneficiary's age of around 60 years. The amount of the policy would vary with the length of service. The policies may be taken out in ordinary insurance companies, instead of being underwritten by the government itself, with the government merely paying the premiums. The total cost of such a plan is estimated at $2,000,000,000 or $3,000,000,000, with an expense to the government of perhaps $80,000,000 a year.

This cost obviously would not be prohibitive and could hardly be considered a serious burden on national prosperity. The public has not yet had an opportunity to express itself on the matter. General approval, however, could be taken for granted, if there were assurance that this would end the bonus campaign and forestall such pensioning of veterans as has followed all our previous wars.

WHAT AN AUTOMOBILE COSTS

Few people know what it costs them to own and operate an automobile. The usual method of reckoning the cost takes account only of the gasoline and oil, on a mileage basis, with possibly a rough guess made for wear of tires and other upkeep expenses.

Uncle Sam knows better than that. Government experts have been studying the subject, taking into consideration original cost, depreciation, gasoline, oil, tires, repairs, replacement, interest on investment, garage rent and all other proper items. They find the average cost of automobile transportation is 7 cents per car mile.

This is doubtless more than the average motorist realizes that his car costs him. It means $420 a year. A large car, or a car unusually wasteful of gasoline, will cost more than this. So will a car fully insured, or a car used only in its prime, while depreciation is rapid, instead of being used for its full life term. Even so, the cost is lower than it used to be.

Whether a motor car is economical, from a mere transportation viewpoint, depends mainly on how many people ride on it. Obviously 7 cents a mile is pretty high for one person. When carrying more than two persons, the car begins to save money for the family, as compared with railroad or suburban trolley transportation. For local use, the mileage basis would seldom be appropriate; the main consideration there is convenience.

Progress Editorials for Women

By FLORENCE DAVIES

He was a kindly old gentleman with graying hair and a wistful expression.

More than that, some half-remembered quality of distinction seemed to linger about him.

Sure enough, he presented the evidences of his achievements in a sizeable book, in which were carefully pasted the letters and clippings which told of his skill as a music teacher. Letters from well-known men praising his work, notes of commendation from the consul of one country to a high official in another country, clippings from the newspapers were all in the collection.

Everyone had been saved and carefully treasured as mute evidence of his essential—failure. Yes, failure, not, as they were supposed to be, a proof of his greatness.

For, alas! people who are doing big things need no proof of it.

As a matter of fact, the old gentleman had real ability. But something seemed to blight it something seemed to keep the world from knowing it. Everyone, instead, seemed to pity him a little, to try to think of some way of helping him, to pass him on with a glowing letter to a friend who might have pull.

What was the answer

Perhaps the answer lay in that very book, dog-eared and soiled, in which he vainly sought to clinch the fact that he was an artist, to nail it down once and for all so that the public, seeing, would have to believe. But the public, seeing, only shook its head, and realized a kind of inherent weakness in one who distrusted himself so greatly that he had devoted so much thought to saving the proofs of what he could do.

If you can do it today you don't need testimonials. If you can't do it, testimonials won't help.

Some people bother a good deal about keeping these records of their achievements. They may be nice enough for sentiment. But they aren't worth a fig in business.

Testimonials are mostly for quack remedies. Fresh air, and sunshine, ripe apples, juicy steaks, a little old fashioned baking soda in a cup of warm water, none of these everyday, ordinary things that work, need testimonials.

If you have treasured a lot of letters from teachers or employers telling what a bright child you were, pitch them out and make room for something else.

Today's job is the only testimonial that's worth lugging around with you.

WHAT IS SUCCESS?

By ROGER W. BABSON

World-Famous Statistician and Business Authority

III. — WHICH JOB IS BEST

(Copyright 1923, Fleming H. Revell Company. First published in this newspaper by arrangement with Babson Institute, Babson Park, Mass.

Without doubt a man's success is very closely bound up with his occupation. In the study of occupations, we find that they may be divided into four main groups:

(1) The Professional Group, including medicine, literature, law, the ministry and other professions.

(2) The Mechanical Group, including engineering, building, manufacturing, and the like.

(3) The Selling Group, including merchandising, advertising and distribution in all its phasesfl

(4) The Raw Material Group, including agriculture, forestry, mining and the production of basic commodities.

Very few persons are fitted for all four groups; most persons are fitted for only one of these groups. Hence, in preparing for success, it is most important that young people analyse themselves and go into the occupational group for which they are best fitted. Of course, such an analysis should not be tried too far. If one is a natural salesman, and best fitted for group three, it makes no difference what he sells, so long as it is something which makes people ultimately happier and better off. In the same way, a man who will succeed in agriculture will probably succeed in forestry. A man should keep out of a group for which he is not fitted; but after selecting the right group, he should not be too fussy about the special division of that group.

Opportunity in Every Line

There are opportunities in every line and every division. In the long run, these opportunities equalize themselves. Those lines which at the moment are most promising will soon be overcrowded, while those which today are unpopular may be the most attractive a few years hence. Each man must himself select the group to which he is to give his life; but after making that decision, he can trust God to guide him into the right division of the group. To get into the right division it is only necessary to forget oneself and go unselfishly where the need is greatest.

Which Way is Your Firm Going?

It is very important that young people—and older ones, too—work with concerns and individuals who are aiming in the right direction. We all make mistakes, and we are all more or less hypocritical or at least inconsistent. Some of us, however, are striving hard to live and work according to right principles, while others are indifferent. In order to be happy a person must work with or for a concern which is striving to do what is right even if it often fails in the attempt.

The important factor in success is the motive, purpose and ambition of the person, possessing these tools. This motive, purpose and ambition is the product of religion. Hence it is all important that we work with and for men and women who also are building on a religious base. Many a good man with a religious foundation and a fair share of success qualities, has never succeeded because he has been working for or with those who have lacked the religious base. Such a good man may have built his own of another! The other person ultihouse, rock and all, on the sands of o fanother! The other person ultimately failed to succeed, and so the good man suffered likewise.

Is Money Success?

Statistics show clearly that success is absolutely dependent upon our employer and associates having a clear conscience. This does not mean that a man cannot secure money, influence or fame by questionable methods. But money or fame thus secured seldom does the owner or his children any permanent good. This is why so many concerns have gone to pieces when the younger generation came into control. Naturally I cannot decry material prosperity, for I have devoted my life to helping people acquite such prosperity. As my income is derived from such work, I should be the last to belittle it. A certain amount of material prosperity is necessary to assure a family the where-with-all to live, an education and a few luxuries. Every reader of this article should have all the material prosperity necessary for the needs of his family. However, there is a great difference between helping one's family and endowing one's family. Leaving one's children more than sufficient for their needs tends to weaken instead of strengthen them it becomes a temptation rather than an aid, thus often causing harm instead of good.

Work with Normal Folks

For the same reason, our employer or associates should have good health Now health is dependent largely upon a man's mode of life. There are instances where people have succeeded who were handicapped with poor health. There are many instances where one's health has been broken for a year or more before his greatest success came. Very often, an illness causes one to realize the value of the health lost so that on regaining health one guards it more carefully in the years following. To this extent an occasional illness may be a blessing in disguise, for it gives one a chance to take one's bearing and to determine one's latitude and longitude.

Some employers or partners will say that their occupation makes it impossible for them to live as God intended. Those who are so unfortunately situated should change their business. Certainly if this is true of the occupation which you are considering, you should not enter it. Working conditions, hours of labor, opportunities for exercise, the living situation, all should be weighed when one considers his occupation and with whom he is to work. Men and women —of all groups—are constantly selling their birthrights for messes of pottage by working for and with people who are not living right. If you, my reader, are in a position or business where you cannot enjoy both a clear conscience and good health, get out and go into something else. Never mind if you do not receive as much money— Money is not everything. Moreover, if it has been the means of others' losing their consciences and health, better beware!

A $6,000 Start

For the same reason, a helpful wife is of great importance. I know the head of a large New England manufacturing company who gave employment to a promising young man from his home town. He knew the parents of the boy, and they were of the best stock. He also knew the boy himself well, for at one time the lad had been in his Sunday School class—in fact, many of the department heads in his business were once boys whom he had known in Sunday School, and in the Y. M. C. A. This special boy, however, was a favorite with the manufacturer because of his high character and ability. At the start the boy made good. The first few years he made rapid advance, and at the age of twenty-three years he was receiving a salary of $6,000 a year, which was probably greater than any one was receiving in the town from which he came.

In the office was a very pretty stenographer. To this girl our young man took a great liking. Strange to say, the homeliest girl in a group of stenographers is usually the most efficient while the prettiest is usually the least efficient. This case was not exception. However, the girl was quick enought to realize that the young man had possibilities and was a "good catch." She thereupon set out to catch him and succeeded. They had a simple wedding and started housekeeping in a modest way.

Questionable Investments

At first she was satisfied with what he could easily afford. However, in a short time she wanted more and more She had always dressed attractively. She knew clothes—but unfortunately this was about all she did know. She had few other interests. Thus she bought more and more expensive clothes. Finding that they did not satisfy, she bought expensive furniture for the house. Then the house in which they lived did not suit her, and she insisted that her husband buy on time, a larger house in a more fashionable neighborhood. This soon caused him to spend his entire salary and run into debt.

The first "show down" came when the head of the concern decided to sell an interest in the business to four of his department heads, including this young man. To the employer's great disappointment, the young man had no money with which to seize the opportunity. Further, when he went to his bank to borrow, the bank informed him that his account did not warrant a loan. Moreover, the bank president knew that he owed bills and was living beyond his means. The bank president had a wife and daughters ,and he had often heard the young couple talked over at the break fast table.

Domestic Assets

The credit and success of a man have often been ruined by the extravagance of his wife. On the other hand, the reverse is more often true. Many a young man owes his success to an economical wife, and the fact that the banker's wife knows she is economical is a help to him. Hence, the loans of many town banks are determined by the family gossip and by the remarks consciously or unconsciously dropped by the banker's wife and children. Women often have far more to do with determining credits than have Dun or Bradstreet. Hence, when selecting associates, remember that the wife is the most important associate of all.

Fortunately, most women are real helpers. The great majority of women are making their husbands successful. A wife can make or break a man. Most successful men owe their success to their wives. Statistics would surely show that a man's wife is a most important factor in his success ,and the next factor is a good family of children. Moreover, statistics would probably show that the women who have been the most helpful to their husbands are those who have stayed at home and made real wives. Nothing spurs a man on to success more than a family of good children It may be difficult to rate statistically the true success of a man, but it is not so difficult with women. There are, of course, exceptions to every rule, but as a rule ,the success of a woman is often measured by the number of good boys and girls she rears to manhood and womanhood.

MUSICAL PROGRAM AT WEST SIDE TABERNACLE

In the absence of the pastor, who is attending conference, the Sunday evening service at the West Side Methodist tabernacle will be taken care of with a musical program by the choir, assisted by the orchestra.

From time to time it has been requested that anthems be repeated and the choir will take this opportunity of doing so, using the most popular anthems as a basis for the program. Special numbers, instrumental and vocal, will be an added feature of the evening and everyone is extended a very cordial invitation to come and enjoy the service with us.

They played Oil City off their feet in the first quarter, the exertion telling on their weakened physical powers to such an extent that Oil City outscored them and took the lead in the second quarter. The locals came back in the third session with all their old-time pep, snap, dash and vigor, the quarter ending with Clearfield in the lead. The terrific pace told on the boys again in the fourth quarter and the enemy managed to pull out ahead in the hardest fought game of their career.

Find Mutilated Body Of Woman In Trunk Shipped From Denver To Pacific

Denver, Colo., March 15 (INS.)—Police today were searching for a man who shipped a trunk from this city to some point in California yesterday and in which the mutilated body of an unidentified woman was discovered in Ogden, Utah, this morning. According to reports to local police from Ogden, blood trickling from the trunk led railroad officials in Ogden to open the heavily weighed trunk.

Fate of Early Poisoners.

In medieval times in Europe poisoners, when detected, were usually broken alive upon the wheel, after having first been given a taste of the rack while in prison awaiting execution, as a sort of gentle reminder of what they had presently got to go through.

Matches of Hemp.

In the use of early firearms a match consisted of a cord of hemp or similar material treated with niter so that it continued to smolder after it had been ignited. The match was attached to the cock of the musket and brought down by the action of the trigger on the powder priming.

What's the Hurry?

"Why are you adding so many telephones now? Why are you putting up so many new buildings? Why all this expansion? Why not wait until conditions may be more favorable?"

Here's the answer:

We have no control over the demands for telephone service.

As a public utility we must provide a high-grade communication service for those who have telephones; and we must meet the demands for new service when and where they come.

The people of Pennsylvania are saying to us: "We want telephones"—more and more telephones.

There can be only one reply:

"You shall have them—just as quickly as we can place the equipment."

Regardless of difficulties, we must erect buildings, place the wires, cables and switchboards, and other equipment in the shortest time possible.

We have not sought this tremendous construction problem. But we welcome it; for every added telephone gives your telephone more power. We're in business for just that purpose.

Water Company Moves To Increase Supply

in order that every eventuality and emergency might be met in the providing of storage facilities and for the prevention of waste. With the change of the meter on the water line it is possible to estimate the exact consumption of any given-sized establishment, at least to within a very few hundred gallons of that consumption and thereby allow the water company to provide storage sufficient to meet that need, or any ordinary emergency need, with an exact outlay for plant and equipment, instead of making it necessary to provide much greater storage facilities with their subsequent increased outlay and corresponding natural increase in the price to the consumer.

The plan also provides for the placing of an additional 16-inch main line from the Montgomery reservoir to parallel the present 12-inch line. At present there is a 20-inch line extending from the Montgomery reservoir a distance of approximately 2,600 feet to the side of the original dam on this creek. From this point to the main distributing lines in the town a 12 inch line is used to convey the water. The new 16-inch line will be connected to the aforementioned 20-inch line where it end at the old dam and will parallel the 12-inch line for a distance of 7,000 feet where it will be connected into the 12 inch main. It is approximately three miles from there the 16-inch line runs to the borough limits and its completion is provided for with the plans. This 16 inch line will cross the river at or near Riverview bridge, several hundred yards above where the present 12-inch main crosses, and will be connected into the distributing system in the Reedsville section at a different point from the 12-inch line.

The placing of the proposed 3,000 feet of 16-inch main will deliver 250,000 gallons more water daily than at present, while it is expected that an estimated waste of 250,000 gallons will be saved by the 500 meter installations or a net increase of 500,000 gallons per day.

When the 16-inch parallel line is completed for the entire three miles between the 20-inch outlet at the original dam on Montgomery to the distributing system at the upper end of the Second Ward, this addition alone, with its divided transmission into the distributing system will increase the daily delivery more than 1,000,000 gallons over the present supply.

In addition to the above a study was made of storage conditions on Montgomery and additional storage was found necessary. This additional storage will be provided in one of two ways. There is considerable leakage from or under the present dam which is located on a rocky ledge, and if it is found possible to permanently repair these leaks and effectually guard against water loss therefrom, the present dam will be greatly enlarged. If this is found impossible or impractical after careful investigation, then a second dam will be built near the site of the original dam and 1,000 feet below the present dam, with a 20-foot pipe connection between the two dams. Then, too, it may be found practical and more advantageous to place the additional dam above the present dam on Montgomery.

The 16-inch pipe is being placed upon the ground and will be laid this spring. The work of installing the 500 meters mentioned is already underway and will be facilitated by the employment of larger crews when spring opens up, and will be continued until at least two-thirds of the consumption is metered, the exception being to the single-spigot consumers, who represent this one-third.

The water company has already enlarged their force of employes by securing the services of Charles Young as sanitary engineer. Mr. Young is a Clearfield boy, a graduate of the engineering department of State College and was employed as sanitary engineer by the West Virginia State Health Department, when his services were secured by his present employers.

A fully equipped meter department has been added with latest improved testing apparatus and devices. This new department is in the care of L. C. Meise.

A decision on the dam will be made in the near future, and possibly in time for work on the building of same to start this year, but its immediate construction has not been determined upon as yet.

Protecting Himself.

Thawing Pipes With Electricity.

Electricity is the only agent which will thaw frozen water pipes without their being dug up. With the action of electricity the pipe can be easily thawed in a short time, the passage of current through the pipe heating it sufficiently to melt the ice.

Burns Healed Without Leaving A Scar

My sister was burned last winter when putting coal oil on a deadened fire and the flames burst out into her face. We used nothing but San Cura and didn't even have a physician and in almost an incredible short time her face was perfectly healed without a scar. It is the finest thing for burns that I have ever seen. Have also used it for other things. Just lately an infected toe and immediately it was healed.—Hattie S. Pitts, 18 Iowa Circle, Washington, D. Wheeler-Brookhart Inquiry

By WILLIAM K. HUTCHINSON

Washington, March 15.—Only three days old, the Wheeler-Brookhart investigation of Attorney General Harry M. Daugherty and the Department of Justice has produced such a multitude of super-sensational accusations and half veiled charges that the investigators themselves hardly know which way to turn today to get at the truth or falsity of the astounding stories divulged by Gaston B. Means, detective extraordinary, and Roxie Stinson, divorced wife of a man dead a year ago by his own hand.

Before the committee today was the forceful denial of the Attorney General of much of Roxie Stinson's testimony. He said he would take care of Means' sensational charges when the time came in the same way. But as for Roxie Stinson, Daugherty said:

"She is a disappointed woman who blames me because her divorced husband did not make her sole legatee under his will; an angry woman because the courts have decided against her in litigation over the estate; a malicious woman because friends of the Attorney General have brushed aside all her tentative efforts to capitalize her silence."

The testimony of neither Roxie Stinson nor Means, the Attorney General pointed out, would be admissible for a minute in a court of law.

Always the trail of corruption and bribery has led to the grave of Jesse Smith—never have the two "star" witnesses directly charged that any one now living participated in the profits from the alleged "deals" but always they have left the inference that Smith acted as "go-between" and "partner" with Government officials.

At one point testimony crossed path.

Means testified Smith collected $100,000 in new thousand dollar bills from a Japanese who represented the Mitsui Company and the Standard Aircraft Corporation for his influence in having a Government war fraud suit stopped.

Roxie Stinson testified that once when Smith came to see her he had 75 thousand dollar bills in a money belt around his waist.

The committee today planned to recall Roxie Stinson, leaving further investigation of Means' halftold tales until next week.

The story related by Means still thrilled the capital today. Known as the best detective in America, Means has been connected with a score of National scandals in the last decade. A chubby figure, with a wide smile, he appears more like corner grocer than America's "best investigator" the compliment paid him by Wm. J. Burns, head of the Bureau of investigation in the Department of Justice.

"Burns is an honest man," he told the Senate Committee privately before taking the witness stand. "He is my friend. Don't ask me any questions about him for I won't answer you. Burns wasn't in on these deals and if he was, I would lie to you about them."

A strain of conceit marked his attitude when first summoned. To Wheeler, he said: "Show me where a bird lighted out there this morning and I'll bring you the bird by nightfall."

Thrifty folks read the Progress ads.

Curwensville's Own Column

Mrs. Annie Evans, who resides with George Evans on McNaul street, is reported as seriously ill.

The Sophomore social and dance held in the Red Men's rooms Thursday evening was a pronounced success in every particular. A large crowd of the class as well as a number of invited guests were on hand and entered into the evening's enjoyment with zest and zeal. The fishing pond was one of the amusements that drew the attention of all. Taking all things into consideration it was one of the most enjoyable events of the winter season.

The Knightes of Pythias meeting and social entertainment last Thursday evening was a session that will long be remembered in the Pythian annals of Curwensville. It was a part of a 60th anniversary of the order. After the regular routine of lodge business had been completed, five minutes was allotted to each member present to say something relative to the order and the magnificent work it had accomplished throughout the country. All in all it was an interesting session, and much good derived from the talks made.

Dr. Geo. C. Jenkins made a sale of a portion of his residence lot this week, the purchaser being an Italian by name of Serento, the sale price being $1,200. Vincent DiPalma has disposed by sale of two lots out in Naulton Addition. Both lots brought a good price

Curwensville borough should follow the example set by Punxsutawney and place a fixed rate as a tax on all autos used for hauling loads over the streets. Its a good idea and worth trying out.

Weasel's Coat Quickly Whitens.

In cold countries where snow prevails during a long winter many animals change the hue of their coats to white tint The case of the weasel is especially curious; it retains its brown coat until the first snow appears, and then whitens in a few hours.

ROAD WAGE RATE IS NOT 45 CENTS AN HOUR

Our attention has been called to an error in the road story the other day in which it was stated that forty-five cents an hour was paid to the snow shovellers on the state road. This is an error, the rate being in most instances thirty-five cents per hour, depending on the class of work and the locality.

Paul Berlenbach, Touted As Champ Timber, Easy Victim Of Jack Delaney

By DAVIS J. WALSH
I N S. Sports Editor . .

..New York, March 15.—Once upon a time there was a bubble—sheer, multicolored and beautiful to behold—that was expanded to its semi-elastic limits. Attining its full growth over night, it was released upon a vagrant breeze where all might see and admire for a consideration strictly financial. Then—pouf. It was gone

In the midst of the wildest scenes enacted in this man's town since the Dempsey—Firpo frolic, Paul Berlenbach, Royal high executioneer of fistic hopes, was knocked out last night after 2 minutes and 36 seconds of fighting in the fourth round by Jack Delaney.

The great Berlenbach bubble is no more.

One moment it was there. The next it was gone. That is a habit common to bubbles, and Berlenbach, without taking any meed of credit from Delaney, proved to be nothing else. He had scored 23 or 26 straight knockouts, comptometers disagree on this point but burst with a faint "pop" upon meeting something substantial.

Delaney was all of that. Too fast for Berlenbach, too experienced and altogether too good, he left no doubt in the minds of some 18,000 or our best people that the so-called "one punch man" that he has no place in the first flight of middleweights now or perhaps at any other time. Rickard can abandon with all due hasta any intention he may have had of building Berlenbach up for a match with Greb. A burst bubble can never be used again. One must blow another or abandon this engrossing past time altogether.

Would Be a Boon.

Any guy who would invent something effective to take the cut out of the cutworm would be sure of everlasting fame.—Boston Globe.
